Ticket Validity Period

Validity period of single use tickets

The expiry date of a ticket is clearly marked on it. It depends on the type of ticket and the applied offer. Below you will find the validity periods for single use tickets.

| Type of ticket | Distance | Validity period |
|----------------|--------------|-----------------|
| "one-way" | up to 100 km | 1 day |
| "one-way" | above 100 km | 2 days |
| "two-way" | up to 100 km | 1 day |
| "two-way" | above 100 km | 4 days |

When should the trip start?

You must start your journey within one hour of the time of purchase of the ticket or the time indicated by the passenger. This applies to one way tickets and to the first journey in case of return tickets.

Departure in the 'back' direction using a 'round trip' ticket for journeys of more than 100 km may be started on any day of the ticket validity period.

The above rules also apply to tour tickets.
